

LIST OF FIGURES

Figure 1-1	Trend of NR consumption	1
Figure 1-2	Trend of NR price and inventory level	2
Figure 1-3	Distribution of major producing countries	3
Figure 1-4	Trend of production volume in major producing countries	3
Figure 1-5	Trend of Thailand export volume by country	4
Figure 1-6	Trend of China import volume by country	5
Figure 1-7	Trend of Japan import volume by country	5
Figure 1-8	Life cycle of rubber farm	6
Figure 1-9	New farm development and trend of replantation area in major producing countries	7
Figure 1-10	Trend of domestic consumption rate in major producing countries	8
Figure 1-11	Export value structure of rubber-related industry	8
Figure 1-12	Sales Value (ex-factory) of Locally Manufactured Rubber Goods	9
Figure 1-13	Change of NR raw material product in Thailand	11
Figure 1-14	NR processing	11
Figure 1-15	TSR/RSS price gap	12
Figure 1-16	Price situation of NR products and raw materials	13
Figure 1-17	Rubber's Harvested Areas in Thailand (by Region)	14
Figure 1-18	Major location of NR processing factories and regional characteristics	15
Figure 1-19	Process of crepe rubber production	21
Figure 1-20	Minimum price compensation by using option trade	22
Figure 1-21	Thai high official of Ministry of Agriculture and Cooperatives' interest in option trade	23
Figure 2-1	Main production countries of NR and trend of production volume	24
Figure 2-2	New farm development area in main production countries	25
Figure 2-3	Para rubber: Area and production; 2005-2014	25
Figure 2-4	Price trend of NR and palm oil	26
Figure 2-5	Operating ratio of processing factory in Thailand/Indonesia	27
Figure 2-6	Trend of NR consumption	28
Figure 2-7	Trend of NR price and inventory level	28
Figure 2-8	Trend of China import volume by country	29
Figure 2-9	Trend of Thailand export volume by country	29
Figure 2-10	Rubber production trend in Thailand (1999-2014)	31
Figure 2-11	NR supply chain structure in 2014	32
Figure 2-12	Production by upstream products	33
Figure 2-13	Price of Natural Rubber	34
Figure 2-14	Major Factors Affecting NR Production Structure and Market	34
Figure 2-15	NR processing	35

Figure 2-16	TSR/RSS price gap	36
Figure 2-17	Exports of STR, 2010-2014	36
Figure 2-18	Rubber's harvested areas in Thailand by region	39
Figure 2-19	Rubber plantation area in each region in Thailand	40
Figure 2-20	Major location of NR processing factories and regional characteristics	41
Figure 2-21	RSS processing process	46
Figure 2-22	TSR processing process	46
Figure 2-23	The process of making concentrated latex	47
Figure 2-24	Crepe rubber process	49
Figure 2-25	The average price of rubber, by type	50
Figure 2-26	Status of rubber workers	53
Figure 2-27	Utilisation status of immigrant workers	54
Figure 3-1	Terms of rubber transaction	55
Figure 3-2	Trade margin of each sales route	57
Figure 3-3	Central markets in Thailand	59
Figure 3-4	Rubber price decision process at central market	59
Figure 3-5	Role/constraint/future of central market	60
Figure 3-6	The structure of market 108	61
Figure 3-7	Trading of rubber production in market 108	62
Figure 4-1	Government policy outline	63
Figure 4-2	Unification of rubber organisations in Thailand	65
Figure 4-3	Organisation chart of RAOT	66
Figure 4-4	Rubber plantation control guidelines	69
Figure 4-5	Rubber replantation plan	70
Figure 4-6	The flow chart of 100,000 tons rubber purchase policy	70
Figure 4-7	The major pilot projects of the government in the rubber usage plan	71
Figure 4-8	Income of CESS collection	73
Figure 4-9	The budget of CESS	74
Figure 4-10	The initial plan to support farmers	76
Figure 5-1	The interview of Thailand Ministry of Agriculture and Cooperatives	78
Figure 5-2	Options trading	78
Figure 6-1	Rubber farmers' incomes and feasibility of planting change	79
Figure 7-1	Process of crepe rubber production	81
Figure 7-2	Major National Highway Development Plan under Infrastructure Development Strategy (2015-2022)	82
Figure 7-3	Minimum price compensation by using options trading	85