This analysis was undertaken through a series of workshops held in Bangkok, Tokyo, and Washington, DC under the Economic Research Institute for ASEAN and East Asia, with The Institute of Energy Economics, Japan acting as the secretariat. We would like to acknowledge the support provided by everyone involved.

We would also like to express our special thanks to Mr Lucian Pugliaresi of the Energy Policy Research Foundation Inc for his valuable insights and generous support during the workshops, particularly the workshop in Washington, DC.
